Hello, everyone! This is David Peterson. Welcome to our business world. Today I'm going to talk about how sales promotion works. First, it must provide something often in the form of a price discount, reward, or upgrade. Since the promotion activities are short-term, customers must act quickly to take advantage. Sales promotion is usually delivered in a communication message; in this way, customers' awareness is raised; interest is created and sales are increased. It can be targeted toward customers online.

reward n. 獎賞 short-term adj. 短暫的 take advantage phr. 佔便宜 awareness n. 意識 target v. 目標

Here's an example of the sales promotion:

- () 34. Which is true for this passage?
- (A) Giving discounts makes customers buy less.
 - (B) Sales promotion usually last for a long time.
 - (C) Customers believe what they've ordered online.
 - (D) Sales promotion may give customers some discounts.
- () 35. Which is true about the text on the cellphone?
- (A) The gym doesn't have any sales promotion.
 - (B) The gym promotes its personal training sessions.
 - (C) Customers can get discounts in the gym at any time.
 - (D) Customers still can have 20% discount next week.

B.

A woman is standing on the stage in front of thousands of her fans. But her road to success is not easy. She is Lady Gaga, one of the most popular American singers. She was born in New York, US on March 28, 1986. She decided to become a singer at a very young age. Lady Gaga began performing as a teenager, singing at Open Mic nights, and acting in school plays. Later, she quitted school to look for a career in music. After her contract was canceled by one recording company, she worked as a songwriter for Sony Music Publishing.

Several of the songs on her albums touched tens of thousands of people's hearts and made her a famous singer. Little Monsters, which is the name people call her fans, sounds cool. As she became more and more popular, she used her power to help others. For example, in 2012, she started a foundation, Born This Way, a non-profit organization for those teenagers in need. Lady Gaga has signed an open letter to support girls' education in many countries. She has been bullied since she studied at college. Her classmates even made fun of her and said to her, "You will never be famous." However, she never gave up her dream. Instead, she used herself as an example to tell others who have been treated badly that we should be strong. Lady Gaga set a good example for not only her fans but all of the others.
